LOYOLA'S DRAPER TO GIVE COACHING COURSE

Hockey Canada has selected Loyola Warrior Coach Dave Draper to give a coaching course this fall known as the " Hockey Canada Coaching Certification Program". Through the cooperation of Loyola's Evening Division, the course will take place at Loyola, the only location in Quebec where it will be given.

In preparation for this course, the object of which is to present a comprehensive study of coaching hockey for those involved in our minor systems, Draper is attending the International Symposium on the Art and Science of Coaching, now being held in Toronto.

Commencing October 18, the course will be given for one hour per week over a ten week period. The cost will be $20.00.

The program will be divided into three levels, the successful completion of each eventually leading to a certificate awarded by Hockey Canada. Level one will consist of a history of hockey with emphasis on its growth and the changes that have occured. As one graduates to levels two and three, the subject matter will become centered more on general strategy and tactical applications.

Registration for the course will be held on Saturday, October 9, from 12:00 to 2:00 P.M. at Loyola's Athletic Complex.
